Government Files Suit To Permanently Enjoin Sugar Futures Trading

Action Directed Against Exchange and Clearing House in New York.

BROKERS' PANIC FOLLOWS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Injunction proceedings to shut off trading in sugar futures were instituted today by the federal government.

The government bill, prepared yesterday, the personal direction of Attorney General Clegg, and the personal supervision of President Harding, asked the court to permanently prevent the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange from entering into or permitting any transactions in sugar unless the person purporting to make such sales has "in his possession or under his control a supply of adequate to meet the requirements of such transaction."

The action is instituted by the government as a result of "an orgy of speculation" which has driven up the price of sugar to the consumer level, which has caused a panic among the brokers by $200,000,000, a conspiracy in restraint of trade and commerce in charged and officials of the exchange and of the New York Coffee and Sugar Clearing House Association, against which the injunction would be directed jointly, with the exchange, are asked to appear in court and answer the government allegations.

The court was advised that the exchange and the clearing house association serve no legitimate or useful purpose in the marketing of interstate and foreign commerce of raw and refined sugar but "exist only to a means of contracting and speculation." As a result, it was added, price levels are established which are "wholly speculative and artificial."

The proceedings are the most sweeping ever instituted by the federal government and its efforts to curb speculation in the necessities of life.

Although the action today was a civil suit, Assistant Attorney General Seymour announced that the government also was considering criminal proceedings under the Sherman law and was pursuing an investigation along that line.

Mr. Seymour said further that the government probably would request the court to declare invalid the individual contracts involved in the speculation complained of and issue an order preventing settlement between traders.

The government pointed out it was making no complaint against the exchange and the association in regard to their operations in any other commodity than sugar but added that any dealer in sugar should be without prejudice to the right of the government to institute proceedings to regulate trading in other things should it be found desirable to do so.

It was estimated in the bill that every advance of one cent per pound in the price of refined sugar cost consumers in the United States approximately $2,000,000 a week.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Raw sugar futures took a perpendicular drop of approximately 50 points on the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange on receipt of news of the government suit to enjoin trading in sugar futures.

Heavy guarantee selling developed as soon as news of the injunction reached the floor. Drops ranged from 30 to 74 points but were followed by rallies which carried prices back to 35 points.

Cuban raw sugar, however, sold at new high record since 1920. A sale of 55,000 bags was made to one operator at six and three-eighths cents, cost and freight, equal to eight and 16-100 cents for cost.

A check on the futures trading showed the tumble of futures ranged from 50 to 80 points. The drop was followed by a rally of 21 to 57 points, bringing prices within 10 to 35 points of the day's high.

Stocks of sugar companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange also were hit by news of the injunction suit they had started off with an advance of one to one and five-eighths points in early trading but then dropped one to one and a half points from their early highs.

United States Attorney Hayward who, in charge locally of the investigation which resulted in the suit characterized the procedure as "united effort on the part of federal officials to make the lumbermen in sugar remove the products of the American breakfast table."

It was said at Mr. Hayward's office that there is every indication that the supply of sugar is normal and that the demand is also normal for the present time of year. Only the prices is abnormal, it was asserted.

CLOSING NIGHT BEST FOR LEGION BENEFIT PLAYLET

Yesterday was banner day in the presentation of "The Bonus" by Milton L. Bishop Post, the American Legion Matinee and evening performances were given and capacity houses greeted the players on both occasions.

Many school children took advantage of the opportunity to attend the matinee and the theatre was filled. All the seats were taken and all available standing room was occupied.

Last night the house was sold out and, enthused by the heavy attendance, the performers did their best. The play again scored, especially the first scene in the third act, the production of the pen of Correll J. Poole, depicting the argument for and against the soldier bonus, between Alldredge as Senator Harris, representative of the doughboys, and S. M. DeHart as Senator Duffy, a bitter opponent. Mr. Poole also read his memorial poem, "The Voice Beyond," dedicated to those who made the supreme sacrifice.

Following the performance the members of the cast, the Legion men who assisted as stage hands and others connected with the play were guests at a banquet held at the American restaurant. A turkey dinner was served. Following this there were a number of short talks.

GOVERNMENT IS TO MAKE PUBLIC SOME SUGAR PRICE FACTS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—An announcement setting forth some of the results of the Department of Justice investigation into sugar prices is being prepared at the department as a result of a series of conferences between President Harding and members of his cabinet.

It was indicated that the statement would reveal only partially the evidence gathered by the department agents in New York and elsewhere but would serve to advise the country what steps have been taken upon widely circulated charges of conspiracy to control prices.

The trip has been widely advertised in New York newspapers but last night's report from Highlands, N. J., the base of operations for the rum runners, indicated that the forthcoming tour had made little impression on the skippers of the liquor vessels. Seven ships rocked on the roll. The number, however, was the smallest to be reported since last October. Mr. Connelley did not say whether he expected to board any of the ships. He could do so only at the invitation of the skippers. Little cordially is expected.

250 ELKS JOIN IN CELEBRATION OF LIFTING DEBT

Banquet and Speeches Feature Burning of $12,000 Mortgage.

TENER FAILS TO COME

Connellsville Lodge No. 503, Bonaventura and Protective Order of Elks, Wednesday night held the greatest celebration in the history of the organization, with the burning of the mortgage on the property. As the match was applied to the original mortgage for $12,000, J. Fred Kurtz, treasurer, said:

"Connellsville Lodge No. 503, does not owe a cent to anyone in the world."

Cheers greeted the statement and as the ashes were caught on a tray held by Harry Cook, the assembled body of Elks arose to their feet and gave vent to their feelings. Hand clapping was drowned by a great cheer which thundered through the auditorium.

The match was applied by E. D. Barnhart, past exalted ruler, during whose administration the amount of the mortgage, $12,000, was cleared up. The administration was lauded for the excellent work it did in pushing enterprises which resulted in such financial successes that the final payment on the property was possible at this time. The Elks property is now valued at many thousands of dollars more than the original cost.

A banquet preceded the ceremony. In charge of a committee headed by Thomas W. Baxter, ably assisted by E. W. Baxter, club steward, the dinner served was an excellent one. Roast turkey featured the menu.

Approximately 250 Elks, members of the Connellsville Lodge and visiting delegates, were seated in the big hall. The place was beautifully decorated, the work of George Pfeiffer. The lodge colors, purple and white, predominated. On a background of solid white hung the letters, "E. P. O. E." The lights were shaded by materials of the similar colors and table lamps were topped by shades done in the same scheme. Plants were hung about the walls and ferns added a touch of freshness to the general view.

A flash-light photograph of the body of Elks was taken just before the banquet was served.

The past exalted ruler, the toastmaster and speakers were seated at the head table, placed crosswise to the others. Klaffer's eight piece orchestra furnished the music and other entertainment of vocal and musical nature was by the Phillips family.

FARMERS-BUSINESS MEN'S GET-TOGETHER RALLY NEXT MONTH

To Take Form of Joint Dinner in Kiwanis Club's New Quarters.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED

To Provide Speakers and Arrange All the Details; First Meeting of Joint Committee Has 100 Per Cent Attendance; Much Interest Manifested

Further progress in the movement to bring about closer cooperation and relationship between the farmers of this section of the county and the business people of Connellsville was made last night when steps were taken to arrange for a joint dinner of representatives of the two groups to be given sometime next month.

A meeting of the committee of farmers and the committee representing the business organizations of the city was held in the office of A. B. Norton, Jr., First National Bank Building at which there was a 100 per cent attendance. John L. Gann, chairman of the local committee, stated the object of the meeting and County Farm Agent C. L. Rumberger, was chosen to preside and A. B. Norton, Jr., secretary. Mr. Rumberger gave a brief statement of what had been accomplished in Mercer county where the farmers and the business men of Grove City had been brought together with mutually satisfactory and profitable results, and expressed the opinion that every condition favored just as large, if not larger, degree of success along similar lines in this part of Fayette county.

After a general discussion of the objects of the movement it was decided that arrangements should be made for a get-together meeting of the farmers and the local business men through the medium of a dinner to be served in the new quarters of the Kiwanis Club, now in progress of being fitted up in the basement of the Carnegie Library.

For the purpose of arranging the details and features of the dinner two committees were appointed. One, consisting of County Agent Rumberger, Esq. Lynn, G. M. Griffin and John L. Gann, was selected to select speakers. E. F. Norton, E. E. Arnold, J. L. Snyder, J. E. Smith and C. H. Mowrer, were selected as the general committee to have charge of preparations for the dinner, handle, issuing invitations and other matters. A definite date for the dinner will not be fixed until the next meeting of the joint committee, to be held on the evening of May 2, at which time the sub-committees will make their reports.

The meeting last night was most encouraging to County Agent Rumberger who has been very much interested in the project since it was suggested. He saw great possibilities in it which will be of very great and permanent value to both the farmers of this section and the business men of Connellsville. Other persons in attendance expressed themselves as gratified with the progress made and gave every evidence of their sympathy with the objects and purpose of the movement.

The farmers committee, which had been selected by Mr. Rumberger, consisted of E. E. Arnold, Vanderhill, chairman; J. L. Snyder, Connellsville, representing the Farm Bureau; G. M. Griffin, Smock, representing the Grange; Esq. Lynn Vanderhill, representing the Farmers Cooperative Association; and C. H. Mowrer, manager of the Farmers Cooperative Dairy, Connellsville.

Faille Ribbon Holds Lead for the Season.

With printed satin and faille ribbons challenge georgette for their acknowledged leadership. Bizarre belting ribbon crowns or strings and crowns accompanying ribbons bring out enough. At least irregular trim edges of some otherwise regular belted shapies are of necessity chic and those bound with ribbon—and not a stereotyped binding either—whipped over, or fluted edged ribbon rim riot at present. Straw, hair and wicker ribbons are entering the style field, too—and will mean much to summer's wear. However, for cupola latitude is allowed in materials this year than in color, shape or trimming.

There are two styles to the choice of color—one the costume hat, the other the smart new hat established by the grande maisons. Color does not play so large a part in one smart shade, but answers "present" in many tones. Blended shades—purple, pink, and blue—Georgette effects, standing out in black and white are equal spots of the rainbow to choose from and are often allied.

In fact, black and white are spelling spring in engraved caplets. Corset and navy form another combination that the French think well of always, but this year there are berry and navy, gray and navy or navy with almost green, perhaps.

The utter absence of color makes an early appearance this season. While it is vanishing it is winter just before the silk hats came in, but it did not register a big hit. However, from the trend of things fashionable at present white is to become a prominent factor—and a successful one.

Character in Epic.
The action which springs out of character, and reflects character, alone satisfies the highest dramatic conditions. Here there is a marked difference between epic and dramatic poetry. The epic poem relates a great and complex action which attaches itself to the fortune of a people, or to the destiny of mankind, and sums up the life of a period. The story and the deeds of those who pass across the wide canvas are linked with the larger movement of which the men themselves are but a part. The poetical action rests upon forces outside itself. The hero is swept into the tide of events. The individualism, except the surprise, the episodes, the marvellous incidents of epic poetry, only partly depend upon the spontaneous energy of the hero. The tragic drama, on the other hand, represents the destiny of the individual man.

MRS. EARLS TELLS WOMEN

How Backache and Periodic Pains Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Olean, N. Y. — "Every month my blood would go to my head and I would have such headaches, nosebleeds, backache and pains that I could not do my work. At night I could not get my rest and nothing seemed to do me any good. I read some of your testimonials about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others, so I decided to try it. I had only taken two bottles when I began to be better, and my head did not hurt me any more. I felt like a new woman. The Vegetable Compound is an splendid medicine and I will always recommend it." — Mrs. A. D. EARLS, 680 N. 5th St., Olean, N. Y.

Mrs. Kelsey adds her Testimony.
Copenhagen, N. Y. — "I read your advertisement in the papers and my husband induced me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to get relief from pains and weakness. I was so weak that I could not walk at times. Now I can do my housework and help my husband and do everything I am willing for you to publish this letter if you think it will help others." — Mrs. HENRIETTA KELSEY, R.F.D., Copenhagen, N. Y.

GOOD SOAP FOR TWO CENTS A POUND

Make it At Home By This Easy Process—Takes Less Than 30 Minutes.

Nowadays, more and more women are doing as their mothers did and are making their own soap. If you have never tried it, you will be surprised to see how easy it is to make good soap. You need only a few simple ingredients and a few minutes of time. The soap is made by boiling a mixture of lye and fat. The lye is made by dissolving soda ash in water. The fat is melted and then the lye solution is added. The mixture is stirred and then poured into a mold. The soap is then cut into bars. The process is so simple that even a child can make it.

BUY GOOD BONDS.

They Are a Very Desirable Investment and Now.
Interest rates are rapidly returning to normal and will soon be down to the same level as before the war. A sound bond bought today will very likely command a premium before long. The old, reliable First National of Connelville is offering good issues, paying 5 per cent or better, which it has thoroughly investigated and can recommend. May be paid for in installments, if you wish. —Advertisement of Uniontown. John Davis led in the singing and Alex Duncan of Duquesne sang "For the Sake of Aunt Lang Syne." After the members and guests had assembled in the hall the entire body sang "America."

Former Governor John K. Tener, past grand exalted ruler, who had accepted an invitation to be here, was unavoidably detained in New York by a building dedication. A letter from former Judge H. C. Umbel of Uniontown, expressing his regret at being absent, was also read.

J. Edgar Maston, of Charleston grand exalted ruler, and Woods N. Carr of Uniontown, made the principal addresses.

"Connellsville Lodge, No. 502 is to be especially congratulated on being able to free itself of this burden," said the grand exalted ruler in opening his address. "I extend my sincerest congratulations because of the work you have done."

He said the order was making real progress, and told the Connellsville members it was doing a greater work than ever.

Then he touched on social and community welfare work.

"Do the things that will make your order stand for something in the community," he told the audience.

"The Benevolent, Protective, Order of Elks is known as the greatest American fraternity," he continued. "It is always considered a cheerful, jovial, light-hearted bunch of men."

I am sure these are the persons best able to do things worth while, not only for themselves and the lodge but for the community.

"The Elks are law abiding. Regardless of our personal opinion of the Volstead act it is up to us to see that this law is observed and maintained. A law once passed should be impartially enforced. This order of ours can take a stand for right and have a big part in moulding public opinion. Let us do everything in our power to make the people of this land understand, law-abiding American citizens. It is one of our missions."

Continuing in the same vein he urged the Elks to "plug along" earnestly doing the things you can do to make this a better city to live in and you will be living up to the creed and ritual of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks."

Woods N. Carr told of his school-days with Grand Exalted Ruler Masters and had a few jokes at his expense and then gave a serious talk on the individual responsibility togetherness. He said everyone should be able to do his own part.

"Our lives are but as fleeting sands," he declared "but what is our life if when it is ended there are none to say 'this world is better because he lived?'"

He declared the world was never as good as it is today and that it would be better tomorrow. "Use it would be a poor place to live in."

James P. Norer, exalted ruler of Connellsville Lodge No. 502, spoke briefly. Secretary Albert of the Lacrosse Lodge also made a short talk and James M. Doyle who was a charter member of the Connellsville Lodge, and who filled the unexpired term of Frank L. Brendal as first exalted ruler, made a few remarks.

At the hour of 12 o'clock the Elks to a large hall their thoughts to the departed brother. The celebration shed and rose to their feet while music of Keenan, of the Scotland club, delivered an eulogy to the dead as he spoke strains of "Auld Lang Syne" and from the words of John 11:25.

The executive committee in charge of the banquet was composed of Dave Brown, John H. DeTemple, Thomas V. Thompson, D. E. Krieger and J. Darracott Armstrong.

Two Men in a Garden. The world, the man, the woman entered the gate than he began to count the number of the mango trees how many mangoes each tree bore, and what might be the approximate price of the orchard. The companion went to the owner, made his acquaintance, and quickly going under a mango tree, began to pluck the fruit and eat it with the owner's consent. Now who is the owner of the two? The mangoes it will satisfy your hunger. What is the good of counting the leaves and of vain calculation? The proud man of intellect is vainly busy in finding out the "why and wherefore" of creation while the humble man of wisdom makes acquaintance with the Creator and enjoys a supreme bliss in this world—The Saviors of Sir Ramakrishna, from the Hindu Message.

Every time you open your lips to speak, people can judge whether or not you are really fastidious—or personally careless.

TRY this little experiment today. Notice among the people you meet how you unconsciously and instinctively watch their teeth when they're talking. You've done it all your life because it's a matter of simplest psychology for the eye to seek the source of a sound.

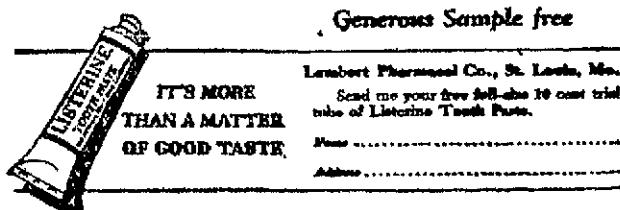

In the same way your own teeth are under scrutiny every time you open your lips to speak. And if the teeth are not right—if they are dull, stained and bear the marks of toothbrush or dentist's neglect, they immediately become a liability.

To some people who are more sensitive about things like this, unclean teeth are even revolting. This may never have occurred to you before.

Only the right dentifrice—consistent, used—will protect you against such criticism. Listerine Tooth Paste cleans teeth a new way. The first tube you buy (25 cents) or the free sample (see coupon) will prove this to you.

You will notice the improvement even in the first few days. And, moreover, just as Listerine is the safe antiseptic, so Listerine Tooth Paste is the safe dentifrice. It cleans yet it cannot injure the enamel.

What are your teeth saying about you today?

DIPHTHERIA AND YOUR DUTY.

In his talk before the Kiwanis Club Dr. T. B. Behard made so plain the few simple rules by the observance of which diphtheria can be more effectively controlled and the children saved, that no citizen who is interested, as all good citizens should be, in all matters relating to the health and happiness of the people, can have excuse or justification in withholding his or her cooperation with the medical fraternity and the State Department of Health in the efforts being made to still further reduce the mortality from this dread disease.

It has become a well established fact that medical science, through the discovery of the antitoxin serum, has made available a curative agent for diphtheria which, if administered at the onset of the disease and in such doses as the conditions require, is effective in almost every case. The experience of the physicians has been, however, that parents frequently refuse to regard sore throat in children as sufficiently serious to require the attention of a doctor and delay calling him until a more or less violent case of diphtheria has developed. Even if antitoxin is administered in such cases it may prove ineffective because too much time has been lost and the poison of the disease has so permeated the child's system that the antitoxin cannot counteract its effects.

Instances are not unknown where parents have objected to the administration of antitoxin until the results of a culture test have established the existence of diphtheria germs beyond doubt. The time required for such a test often proves to be sufficient to allow the disease to develop a stage where antitoxin will fail to affect a cure. In still other instances parents have assumed to discuss the physical cause of the quantity of antitoxin to be administered, which is frequently insufficient and with the result that the cure fails to respond to the treatment. In these and other particulars parents often make it difficult for a physician to handle a case of diphtheria as experience and the best practice have demonstrated are necessary to the best results.

The instances cited, and many others that may be cited, show that a very common duty rests upon parents to take absolutely no chances with sore throat, croup or other throat affections which may be diphtheria in an incipient form. The only course of action that can be pursued with safety, and to do which may prevent a lifetime regret, is to call a physician and leave entirely to him to do what his more exact knowledge and larger experience suggests as the wisest and best to be done. By this means very definite help can be given the medical fraternity in the reduction of mortality from diphtheria and many homes made happy by having their children saved from an untimely death from a curable disease.

While medical science has made wonderful progress in providing curative agents just as needed, success has been made in the realm of preventing disease. Practically everybody is familiar with the wonders achieved during the late war by the immunization of millions of soldiers from typhoid fever. It is less generally known, however, that just as reliable an agent has been discovered by the use of which both children and adults can be made immune against attacks of diphtheria, a serum known as toxin-antitoxin when injected hypodermically, has been found to have the same virtue in protecting persons against diphtheria as vaccination against smallpox and the immunization against typhoid fever and, so far as has been demonstrated, its effects have been permanent.

So satisfactory has been the application of this preventative that Dr. Behard stated it as his conviction that "were it made a compulsory measure throughout the United States to administer this treatment to persons found susceptible to the disease, it would be a matter of but a few years until diphtheria would be totally eradicated."

With such an achievement possible, surely it behooves all citizens to give serious thought to Dr. Behard's admonition that "the fully should accept facts for their own and their children's protection and should cooperate with the State Department of Health and all its agencies."

The dance of death will soon begin to feature the dance marathons.

Edgar A. Guest.

THE SUCCESS.

He never traveled from his desk except to journey home. A dreary life and dull, they said who thought it good to meet him, never danced with women fair nor paid for sparkling wine. But with his own, when day was done, he hurried home to dine.

"Dull, deadly dull!" the cynics said, "yes, deadly dull and tame. The thrill of life has never seemed to bat his blood at all; He does not throw for larger stakes nor seem to care for gold. And he shall have to work by day when he is bent and old."

They wrote him down a failure, doomed to drudge away the years. But his gay and brilliant brother heard the music of their cheers. For he had won at a squander, and he could pay the bill. And keep the laughter ringing and turn all the thrills.

But time has traveled onward and both are dead and gone. Two splendid sons and many the failure follow on. And two the world deprecates the rich man's money spend. Two broken wrecks of pleasure whom no one man deprecates.

When these men's lives are written and all they did is told. Shall he be called successful who spent his years for gold? Or was he not the greater whose tale could pay the bill. The drudge who left behind him two clear-eyed, manly sons? (Copyright 1923, by Edgar A. Guest.)

Runs in the Family.

It must just naturally run in the family. My Tennessee daughter parked the family automobile in front of a watering trough in Washington so that dirty horses couldn't get a drink.

The American dollar is 100 years old this spring, and we're still waiting for it to be doubled. It's a shame, but it's the way it is. The dollar is the lifeblood of our country, and it's time we started to take care of it. We need to double the dollar, and we need to do it now. CONSTANCE TALMADGE MAY MARRY FORMER SOMERSET COUNTESS

JOHNSTOWN, April 12.—Constance
Talmadge is to marry John Charles Thomas, light opera star, and a native of Somerset county, it reports current in New York are correct. Just now there is a little bar to the happy culmination of the romance, in the person of one John Palagou, a wealthy tobacco importer, who happens to be Constance's husband. The fascinating picture star and the impetuous Greek American have separated after a very brief cruise over the matrimonial seas and "they say" John Charles Thomas is to be elected—when the necessary formalities have been complied with—as his successor. The Pressy Son of Thunder is well known here. Several years ago he sang in "May Time" at the Cambria Theatre and a delegation of several hundred came from the neighboring county to pay him home-age. Incidentally John Charles' first trip over the marriage route ended in disaster.

SUFFERED WITH ECZEMA YEARS

In Rash, Itched and Turned. Cuticura Heals.

Every part of my body was affected excepting my face. I had a low fever. It broke out in rash and itched and burned so that I was always scratching. The scratching caused eruptions, which later scaled over. My clothing aggravated the breaking out, and I lost sleep. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and got relief. I purchased more, and after using three cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed. (Signed) Meyer Stroschky, 558 E. 10th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

Young Patriots.

At our house due attention is given to all the national holidays. The children know them and their significance. We have a large flag, and so pantillions have they become in flag lore that the neighbors feel safe in watching our flag staff for pointers. Even the youngest child does her share in the flag ceremonies and watches loyally so that the beloved stars and stripes do not touch the ground in being lowered or raised.

OLD PHYSICIAN KNEW MUCH

Devised Compound Which Really Had Good Effects on Those Suffering From Tuberculosis.

Avicenna, famous ancient Arab physician, invented a medicine which he recommended highly as having healing properties in tuberculosis cases. Its name was djelenjibine, but its component parts, honey and red roses, have a more delicately suggestive name. The roses were preserved in honey, and Avicenna's testimony was, after many experiments, that the mixture reduced expectation and caused the patient to gain weight and appetite. The ancient physician attributed the effect to tannin and sugar, both of which have a favorable influence on tuberculosis, he said. Presumably tannin is an element in rose leaves, according to this, but who would have thought it? Yet, who would not willingly accept it rose leaf and honey remedy for any disease?

A grandmother's cure for coughs and sore throat was once upon a time composed of honey and butter melted together with an admixture of horse-hoof, and administered to entirely willing youthful patients. Did the prescription of the ancient Arab come down the centuries, modified along the way? Rose leaves would be better than horse-hoof, perhaps. But grandmother's cures are spoken of lightly by doctors in these days. The grandmothers did not know, they say. But often than not, the children got well.—Exchange.

ALL DREAD THE CROCODILE

African Beast Said to Be Ready to Attack Almost Any Animal Within Its Reach.

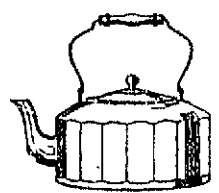

"The most dangerous African animal, according to Major J. Stevenson Hamilton, in his 'Animal Life in Africa' is the crocodile. This saurian attacks any beast within reach save the elephant and hippo. Given the rhinoceros is sometimes pulled down by it. It is not safe on crocodile-infested rivers for a man to stand within three feet of the edge, for by a deft and sudden blow the crocodile may knock him in. Having drowned its victim, the crocodile places him in warm storage on some ledge below water level until the food becomes ripe enough to suit its taste.

At one spot on the Zambezi a chief who lived a generation ago used to take great delight in watching slaves and criminals being thrown to the crocodile. His chair was brought down to the bank in the cool of the afternoon that he might enjoy the fun in comfort. The crocodiles there never forgot those happy days, and until recently it was almost certain death for anyone to try to draw water there.

Face Dangers to Deliver Mail.

In India the distribution of a great deal of mail matter is performed by runners. They are drawn largely from the lowest castes and least civilized races, and many of them are fanatics by religion. They are ready to face wild beasts and wandering criminals, but will go miles out of their way to avoid an evil spirit in a tree. With them the mail bag is a kind of fetish, which must be protected at all costs. Dishonesty among them is very rare, and they are wonderfully true to their "saint," which seldom exceeds $5 a month. Not a year passes that does not take its toll of mail runners who lose their lives in the execution of their duty. It may be a tiger, a swollen river, an avalanche in the Himalayas, a gang of robbers. But the work goes on just the same—the mail must go through, whatever happens.

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digestion from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry, Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

Castoria always bears the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher.

Executive Committee of Tennis Club Arranges to Have Courts Put in Shape

New Posts Must Be Placed and Much Wire Will Be Necessary.

GROUND IS STILL SOFT

The executive committee of the Connellsville Tennis Association met on the courts on the South Side last evening and investigated conditions there, getting a line on what repairs and improvements are needed. It. Blocher, who has been ground-keeper for the past two seasons, was again employed to put the courts in shape and keep them in playing condition throughout the months available for activity.

A number of new posts will have to be "planted," some having rotted at the base and others breaking off or being badly loosened by the heavy winds of the winter.

The ground is still very soft but it can be put into shape readily once the weather becomes settled. The nets used last season are available at once.

G. A. Fort, superintendent of the grounds, will secure new wire for the lower section. All the old wire has rusted to the point of inefficiency or is full of holes. Batches will also be repaired.

Mr. Blocher indicated that he will use several extra men on the courts when he begins work this year and rush it through to completion much more quickly than he did last spring. When the surface is rolled no time will be lost in getting on it, he declared, as stakes marking the dimensions of the court are still "located." The posts and wiring will be placed within the next week.

Enthusiasm in the association is awakening and the list of members looking for the first of the season is growing. The next big get-together of the association will be the banquet on which a committee is now working.

WEST NEWTON NINE TO BE STRONGEST IN TOWN'S HISTORY

WEST NEWTON, April 19.—The West Newton Independents for the coming season will probably be the strongest aggregation that has ever represented this town.

The following new players have secured: Fritchard, who pitched for Bethany College and Flint teams last year; William and Charles McKnight, of the Eastern Shore League; Tremont, of last year's Buena Vista industry team; and Newport, outfielder of the Young Independents.

Together with these are Uchirisko, shut-out pitcher of last year's team; Longmacker, pitcher, Board and Kottner, infielders; Harrier, Koroly and Burt, outfielders, and Lutz to do the catching. Place is left in the schedule for such teams as Beaver Falls Elks, Johnstown, Jeannette, Lacroix, Har-Marville Consumers, Charolot, and other teams of this caliber.

West Newton will open the season at home on May 5 and will play their first game away at Connellsville on May 12.

Final Plans for Game Here Friday Night Completed

Final arrangements for the game between the Lion Tamers' Club of Connellsville and the Uniontown Schoolmen, who will play basketball at the High School gymnasium Friday evening, were completed yesterday. "Pat" Kennedy of Uniontown, paid a visit here for the purpose.

If the game is a success financially the local club may play several more contests before they finally close the season. Fred Rush is handling the Lion Tamers.

In the Realm of Sports.
The Connellsville Independents, managed by George Bittner, have announced the club is ready to open the 1935 baseball season. A number of the old faces are on the team and the organization anticipates a successful season.

The Whistle Independents of Coalbrook are now ready to play any first class aggregation. Arthur Phuntok, the manager, announced. For games write him.

New York Nationals won another game yesterday, defeating Boston for the second time, 7-4. Likewise the New York Americans defeated the Boston Red Sox in the first game of the season, 4-1.

With less than a month to prepare for the real tests the Connellsville track candidates are being worked a little harder. The boys trying out for the team deserve a world of credit for to them goes the honor of having a place on the first team to represent the Connellsville High School in a county meet.

Have Ruth came back into his own the opening day of the American League season, piling a homer far into the right field bleachers of the Yankee stadium and Witt and Dugan romped home ahead of him, putting the Yankees to the good against Boston, 4-1.

CUBS COME BACK, WALLOP PIRATES IN SEASON'S SECOND

San Field Baffles Red Russell and Eighth Inning Nets Five Runs.

CHICAGO, April 19.—The Pirates and the Cubs were tied when the eighth inning of the second game of the season was reached yesterday. And George Boucher, the Tulsa slasher, was faring equally with Alex under the Great. Then the situation suddenly shifted and when the inning was over the score stood 1-2 against the Cubs.

Up to the eighth, Boucher was just as good as Alex. The big, loose-jointed slinger of cross-fire whiffs had the two batters most of the way. Thanks to Lefty Grimm, whose homer into the left field bleachers in the seventh tied up the game after two were out, the Cubs were feeling fine with the prospect of winning out at the finish. But the terrible eighth spoiled the act.

Cliff Heathcote opened with a double off the left field screen. Cliff seemed to ram out the drive at a moment when the whole team on defense was relaxing. Grunbaum, the next batter, was under ironed instruction to put the winning run on third with a bunt, but the new second sacker did more than this, he beat out a bunt which Gooch fielded.

Grimm, the cleanup hitter, hoisted a fly to short right. Big Red was wearing his glasses, but he could not grab the ball. It fell near his feet for a very scratchy double. And Red caught the ball there is a chance that Heathcote would have scored, but there also was a possibility of a double play as Russell possesses a good arm.

Friberg and Miller, the next two batters, made things worse for Red Friberg's smash to right center was a fair sort of a drive, but on Forbes Field, Red might have called it. Russell was plainly baffled by the run. The three batters scored two runs and then Miller hoisted a short fly which fell near Red's feet with "Terny" in pursuit. The day was exceptionally high and the bright sun gave Red a problem which he could not solve.

Nevertheless it looked like Chicago's game by a close margin after their legitimate attack of the eighth. Aleck held the Pirates to five hits, which gives us a total of eight safe blows in two games. For a club that batted better around 1900 collectively last year there certainly is no glory in the batting achievements over the past two days.

Golf Does Not Help

Golf is no help in conditioning ball players, believes Ty Cobb. Players at this time of the year must develop running and throwing muscles and develop the faculty of following the ball with their eyes. He must learn to gauge the speed of a thrown or batted ball. Doing these things requires all a player's physical energy. If he plays golf after practice is over then he is overdoing things.

COAL COMMISSION IS GETTING FACTS OF COAL INDUSTRY

Without the Aid of Lawyers For Ethel Operators or Workers.

WILL FORM COAL POLICY

Which Is Said Will Be Startling in Its Simplicity; Will Not Be Nationalization Nor Complete Unification of Mines; Report Not Ready.

To the current issue of Collier's Samuel Crowther, contribution, lengthy article on the coal situation, dealing chiefly with the conditions likely to determine the availability of an ample supply for next winter's use for domestic and industrial purposes. Touching the work of the United States Coal Commission, now investigating the industry with a view to determining the facts essential to the elaboration of a sound policy for the future, Mr. Crowther makes the following comments and observations:

"Last fall the President, acting under authority of the Congress, appointed a commission of nationally known citizens to find the facts of the coal trade and to make recommendations. The commission has been at work since last October under the chairmanship of John Hays Hammond, the distinguished mining engineer.

"The public has heard very little of the commission, excepting when it interposed to prevent a bituminous strike, and the reason the public has heard so little is that the commission is after the facts of coal and not merely after publicity. It could have gained the front page every day had it cared to hold open sessions, but instead of that it is holding executive sessions and also it has a great crowd of expert assistants quietly working in the field. To its executive sessions it has brought the coal operators and miners, with their facts, but without their lawyers. It does not take stenographic notes of the proceedings, and consequently it is getting all of the facts and all of the records. The lawyers are out of it.

"The commission is not a literary research foundation and neither is it compiling a history of coal mining. It is only after a volume of maps, facts of coal, it is trying to formulate a coal policy that will work, and as far as I can learn it is going to offer a policy that will be startling in its simplicity and which will be so far ahead of every other suggestion that has been made about coal as to be revolutionary.

"The commission will not recommend nationalization. It cannot see a solution in nationalization, for that would only mean the nation buying a great many poor mines and then having political pressure brought to operate them for the jobs. The miners do not want nationalization. Albert Thomas, the French socialist and union leader, cured our coal miners of nationalization when he was over here last year.

"John L. Lewis, the able head of the United Mine Workers, is so fully against national ownership. Neither will the commission recommend that all the mines be nationalized; that would put all the mines in the same boat, but it would not get at the real cause of the trouble, which is intermittent production at the mines. The commission is after a plan which will automatically close the poor mines, which will cut down the number of miners, which will permit the lowering of wages by guaranteeing 300 days' work a year and thus raise the annual wage to an entirely satisfactory basis and, of course, run the mines practically full time so that the cost of idle investment may be decreased.

"They further want to see enough capital put into mining to have the best methods adopted and a system of distribution from mine to user with the least waste. They think that with the proper storage of coal, and a real inducement to consumers to buy in the off seasons, the work can be stabilized and this will cut the price of coal at least in two. And also it will solve the car problem. They know that the public is paying too much for coal and that the miners, operators, and distributors are none of them making enough money to put the industry on a proper basis. The commission rather feels that if waste in the industry be cut down all other problems will care for themselves.

"They are not yet ready to report. But it is not impossible that they will find the true cause of all the trouble in the Sherman Law and will recommend that the law be repealed in its entirety as well as concerned, and that the formation of large corporations—under some kind of government supervision and with full publicity by law for every fact and fact of operation—be permitted. For only through such corporations can the capital and brains be had for truly efficient operation.

"The suggestion may seem revolutionary. We are so accustomed to thinking in the old terms that we take for granted a commission will recommend breaking down something. If this commission suggests helping private capital to build up for the benefit of the public it serves and for the workers who serve it, as well as for its own benefit, it will have officially opened the new era in industry.

"And then it will be for the public to decide if it wants the new way or the old way."

M. M. COCHRAN IN HOSPITAL AT TAMPA, FLA.

The condition of M. M. Cochran of Uniontown is considerably improved, and Mrs. Cochran, too, is coming along nicely in the Tampa, Florida hospital, according to word received by the Rev. G. W. Watson, pastor of the Central Christian Church of Uniontown.

The day before Mr. Cochran left for the South he was seized with a violent nose bleed and while it was checked here, the condition again developed in the South after they had alighted from the train at Clearwater. There was no hospital at Clearwater, so Mr. and Mrs. Cochran went to Tampa where they have been having excellent treatment, according to reports received here.

Just as Mr. Cochran was on the road to recovery, Mrs. Cochran was taken seriously ill and her condition became more serious than her husband. She is expected to be completely restored to health in another week, however.

It seems as though misfortune accompanied each of the Cochran trips away from home. Last time they were visiting in Atlantic City, the death of Mrs. Dorothy Fogg Smith occurred. Last Saturday evening, John Nichol, Mrs. Cochran's brother-in-law, passed away at his home at Somerset. He suffered from a stroke of paralysis. He was buried Monday afternoon.

HARRY ROBINSON, another Philadelphia business man who reports his health restored by Tauline. "It has no equal," he states.

"Tauline not only overcame my troubles, but it built me up twelve pounds, and I can sincerely recommend it to anybody suffering from indigestion or a run-down condition," is the statement of Harry Robinson, 1518 Green St., Philadelphia, a prominent photographer, well-known in his line throughout Pennsylvania.

"For three years I was in a miserable state of health, with my appetite in a bad slump on account of indigestion, and my whole system simply all run-down. I couldn't enjoy eating because pains in my stomach afterwards caused me untold agony, and robbed me of many a good night's sleep."

"I am on my fifth bottle of Tauline now, and I can say my old-time good health has been restored. I eat and enjoy anything I want, have recovered my full strength again, and sleep like a top. Tauline is without an equal."

"Tauline is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.—Advertisement."

BLOUSE IN FAVOR

French Designers Are Giving Attention to Garment for Costume Suit.

The costume suit having evolved to a stage where the separate blouse can no longer be a part of it, we find the French designers giving their attention to the blouse, writes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Times. The consequence is that we are presented with new styles and designs which please not only by their artistry and beauty, but have a strong appeal because of their economical possibilities.

Martini of Armand are embroidering their blouses with a view to creating a Polgarian effect. They also have many of heavy white crepe de chine and crepe georgette. The wristbands are made to look like pendent bracelets by means of the little ribbons and buckles fastened to them.

Jean Patou shows a strong preference for the sailor blouse with an extremely youthful look. There are many blouses of soft crepe trimmed with ornamental braiding or with fancy pieces of ribbon, which are made to stand out. There are some thin blouses made of flower embroidered organdy in the style of the Second Empire. Many of these blouses have labels of lace and collars of lace to be worn with the strictly tailored suit. The lace is cream colored and extremely delicate texture.

Beir is making blouses of real lace trimmed with bands of crepe or tulle. He also has blouses of crepe de chine, embroidered with metal threads.

Spring Suit With Broad Embroidery on Coat Distributed in Original Manner.

In all-over patterns, to be worn with suits where their gorgeousness shows at the front of the coat when it is left open. There are blouses with Russian embroidery and some trimmed with chenille puffs. Others show motifs of colored bead embroidery and edgings of closely sewed beads.

Tricot has blouses made of two contrasting colors, say, of black and white, the skirt being of white, the body of the blouse black, and the sleeves of a combination of black and white. There are some of these blouses with white crepe de chine for the foundation.

Donner has blouses around a skirt of antique tapestry, a blouse of crepe georgette and tulle used in combination. For the three-piece suits there are interesting little blouses made of a combination of crepe and the material used for the suit.

All of the couturiers have agreed upon making blouses that start out with crepe or light woven material for their foundations and then are embroidered or appliqued to the last degree.

Insets of Fillet Used for the Table Covers

One of the most popular decorations for the linen and table cover is insets of fillet. Corners about four inches square are seen on many attractive ones. Fillet is especially satisfactory, as it is difficult to eat upon and handles beautifully. One good-looking linen cover of house-pun was decorated with colored wool embroidery representing in brilliant colors is another suggestion. A floral motif applied to diagonal corners is a suggestion. Any design that is showy like a tulip, chrysanthemum or butterfly is good, and butterflies, peacocks, parrots and bluebirds have possibilities as have fruits. Bright colored crepe gives a cheerful note when applied in the form of cherries, apples, pears or oranges. It is especially effective on tan. Fillet is another material useful for those individual child covers. It should be cross-stitched or darned in the bright reds and blues, with an accent of black to give the effect of the very much used Russian or Czechoslovakian embroidery.

A Riot of Color. A riot of color is turned loose in the altogether fascinating linen, organdy and voile banding trims that are being featured in the lace and embroidery departments of the stores. Embroideries in all the present colors, that are perfect reproductions of the generally made-by-hand patterns that come from the Slav countries, are shown.

will not increase prices until May 1st

Firestone Prices on Fabric and Cord Passenger Car Tires and Tubes, also Solid and Pneumatic Truck Tires Will Advance May 1st

The postponement of this price revision is possible only because of our realization of the price danger in the British Crude Rubber Restriction Act which became effective November 1, 1922. We were fortunate in our rubber purchases before the Restriction Act increased the price of crude rubber 150%.

We have always endeavored to champion the cause of better made tires delivered at lowest cost to the tire user by economic manufacturing and distribution. And we are glad of the opportunity to give the car-owner the additional saving at this time.

Firestone Cords embody certain special processes which result in their producing mileage records, heretofore unheard-of in the industry. Among the more important of these superior methods are blending, tempering, air-bag cure and double gum-dipping.

Firestone Dealers are co-operating with us in our movement to supply your needs at present prices as long as their stock lasts and we have advised our dealers that we will supply them with additional tires this month only so far as our output will permit.

See the nearest Firestone Dealer. Purchase a set of these Gum-Dipped Cords. Prove for yourself their remarkable mileage advantages and easy riding qualities.

In a Studebaker Sedan the quality is built into the job. The body will not begin to rattle or squeak after thousands of miles of hard usage. It will continue to be comfortable and easy riding and will present a fine appearance month after month as when new.

Where Your Money Goes

THE only concern of its kind in the nation, is a chain of ours that sometimes is questioned. Yet it is true. There are any number of financial underwriters—good ones that do a splendid service in encouraging legitimate business enterprises. These concerns and their banking connections are responsible for much of the wonderful industrial development of the United States. All of these, however, deal in new promotions as well as in handling re-financing and new issues of going concerns. The H. L. Beach Company does not engage in new promotions—that is, in selling stock for newly-organized companies. We sell to the public only stocks of going concerns that have good records as to earnings over a period of years.

Our business is founded on the belief that there are surer profits to the investing public in the securities of established concerns than in the issues of business organizations new and untried. We believe also that industry and prosperity are developed along more sound, safe lines through helping going concerns than in putting money into brand new enterprises.

The field for such financing is so vast we have often wondered why it was never developed before and why, as specialists, we are alone in it today.

The H. L. Beach Company is satisfied to let others have the new promotions. Our profits are smaller, but they are never uncertain. There is a wholesome satisfaction in this business. It makes us friends and keeps these friendly. And it is a matter of record that every stock sold by the H. L. Beach Company is today held by the issuing company at a price at least 25 per cent above par.

"And don't call me up at the apartment, either. I'll bring them in some day soon—I can't be sure just when. But I don't want you calling up my wife. You know how woman are—about such things!" he said again, looking nervous—Volpe noticed at the time.

He noticed that. You keep your eyes open in that business and the deal was queer on the face of it. But it was no queerer than others he'd had.

And of course, if anything suspicious came up when he came in again, that next week, Volpe would be right there watching—before any money passed.

But next week when the big man showed up again with his big necklace in his pocket, to get his money and have the substitution made, Volpe was sure that the thing—for one reason or another—he acted about the stones that were coming out to be those as a pledge for the ten thousand.

"You'll have them all here—the identical ones—when I come after them," he asked—looking red and anxious. "There's no danger they'll get mixed up any way?"

"Not a danger," Volpe told him. "For it would mean something to me if there was a mix-up on this—"

"Exactly stones, huh?" said Volpe, and smiled to himself when he had gone—sure that he was about the thing—though curious naturally on what it was all about.

About two weeks afterward the man showed up again and wanted another ten thousand on another third of the stones.

That was different.

"I thought you said ten thousand was all you'd need," said Volpe studying him, thinking fast.

"I thought it was myself. And it will be this time. But you know how the contracting business is—especially now. Up and down. Mostly down! But it will be all right this time—I'm positive you that."

"I guess you can when you get it," said Volpe to himself—getting under way behind that soft, sweet jewelry salesman's smile.

"Have you got them with you?" he asked him, smiling.

"No," said the other man getting red—and blushing in a new idea now.

"And I've got to get you to do something else this time. I've got to have you make that next substitution of stones for me—some night."

"Some night?" said Volpe after him. "Yes," he said, getting redder still.

"You know how women are—when they get an idea in their head."

"What's this?" said Volpe to himself, with a sudden striking spark, wondering what it was he had run into.

"All right," he said aloud—smiling more sweetly than ever. "Bring them in."

"What night?" asked Volpe, more and more polite.

"I'll call you up—this evening—just before six o'clock, and tell you," he said. "I might be able to get in tonight. I have some work."

"How'd he strike you?" Volpe asked his stenographer. She was about as wide as he was, seeing them coming in and going out.

"He's like the rest of them—all over the lot like the dandelions. He's got something on his mind all right. But he's straight enough, I'll say. He's too thick to be anything else."

"Will he be back again?" Volpe asked her.

"He's sure will. The battle doesn't end until he's away. He's got to have that money. Right now!"

Volpe thought the same. And the man still looked honest to him, somehow.

"But why at night?" he said to himself, when the girl was gone. "And why this stall about the woman—having to have them? Does she wear them at breakfast?"

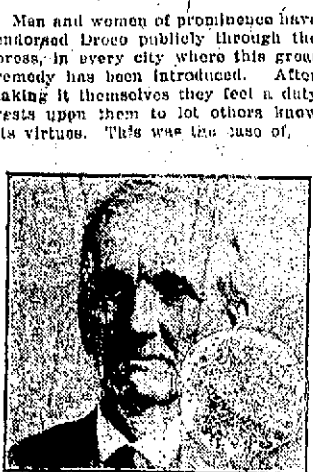

He cut and slipped away a lot of cigarettes out the front window into the avenue—looking down, thinking, as the lights came on—waiting for six o'clock.

And then he jumped up on his feet with a new idea.

"Here," he said, getting hat in the hand. "Suppose this wife business was all a stall! Suppose he was somewhere—in a museum, or a store, where he could have this thing just so long. And had to get it back—at such a time! That might be it!"

JUSTICE OF PEACE 25 YEARS
ENDORSES "DRECO" UNQUALIFIEDLY

Judge Walter says he cannot estimate the good he obtained by taking the great herbal remedy.

W. J. WALTERS

Mr. W. J. Walters of Waltersburg, near Uniontown, Pa., who for 25 years was Justice of the Peace and known far and wide for high sense of justice.

"I'll have everything ready, don't fret!" said Volpe—which he did—down to the detective from police headquarters that he planned in the next room.

"You'll find probably he's a bad one," said the detective, "most likely."

"Well, he don't look so," said Volpe, "at that. And we can't afford to force things—nor till we know."

"I know."

"And he's a big husky brute, you want to take that into consideration."

"Well, he don't want to get too gay," said the detective—this detective from the headquarters squad, who was quite heavy around the shoulders himself.

And just then the elevator door clacked and their man's step came echoing down the hallway to the door.

He came in a hurry—still looking anxious and excited, wiping off his forehead with his handkerchief.

"Well, I'm here," he said to Volpe, as if he'd had a hard time getting there.

Volpe looked at him again—nervous about him, always when he was out of sight; and puzzled more, when he showed up again. He didn't look like a jewelry thief—anything but! And yet you can't tell—some of the best of them are that way. Innocence is their stock in trade.

"Got it with you?" asked Volpe—And got the thing in his hands again. It was all the same as he had left it—the same fake stones among the real—the same old setting—everything!

"Now, I tell you," said Volpe, starting after it. "I haven't had time to get that ten thousand yet. It was too late when I got around to the bank."

"You can give me your check for it," said the man going at him, "can't you?"

"I might, yes," he answered, working along. "Only my balance won't let me—not just now. I'll have to go and get the money myself—tomorrow, maybe."

"Tomorrow! Maybe!" said Coogan after him, his voice rising.

"And besides," said Volpe, "there's another thing come up. My workman didn't show up that I expected on coming to do the resetting for me."

"Didn't show up?" said the big man, looking ugly now.

"So I can't pull the thing off for you tonight."

"Not tonight!" said the man. "I've got to have it tonight! That's all!"

"Say, listen," said Volpe, "what's the hurry in this thing?"

"I've got to have this money, right off—that's what—in my business! Or I go broke. Right now. Tomorrow."

"I understand," said Volpe. "That's all right. That's easy on that necklace, if everything is the way it looks on the surface. But what I mean is—what's the hurry about this work of mine or this necklace? Why must I have it back always on the minute?"

"And he got no answer."

"In other words," said Volpe, coming stronger, "what's the idea of your sliding in here by night with this thing, and having it to take away with you in the morning?"

"It's my wife," said the big man finally.

"Your wife?"

"I wouldn't have her know about this—now—not for the world!"

"What is it—here and not yours?" said Volpe.

"No. It's mine. That is, I paid for it, and gave it to her!"

Man and woman of prominence have endorsed Dreco publicly through the press, in every city where this great remedy has been introduced. After taking it themselves they feel a duty rests upon them to let others know its virtues. This was the case of...

and civic pride. He writes as follows: "It would be hard for me to write how much good your medicine Dreco has done me. I had the misfortune to break my right hip and ever since I've never been free of pain in that side and also my right hand and my arm was somewhat numb."

"I'm sure my kidneys were weak and my liver sluggish while constipation annoyed me daily. I frequently felt dizzy and had spells of heartburn. I found that Dreco benefited me from the start so I've now taken three bottles and unqualifiedly give it my endorsement. The pains in my back, arm and limbs are much less, I am entirely free of constipation and my liver has been thoroughly purged. I have a healthy appetite, sleep sound and get up mornings feeling refreshed. Dreco is, in my mind, the best medicine I ever took."

The Connellsville Drug Company is introducing DRECO to the people of Connellsville. Call on them. Let them tell you of the thousands of unhappy men and women who give DRECO all the credit for their present good health.—Advertisement.

"Oh," said Volpe. "And just as soon as collections come right in my business I'll straighten it all out."

"Maybe you will. Maybe you won't."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean you'll know better—when we put that up to how it is!"

"But you won't put it up to her!" said the big man, sticking out his jaw.

"You'll let me have it back—now!"

And Volpe stepped away from him. "You'll let me have it," said the big husky—stepping toward him. "Now."

"Yes, I will. Yes," said Volpe—raising his voice, so the detective in the next room would get it. "When you put my ten thousand back in my hand."

"You'll let me have it! Right now!" said the big man getting red and reaching over and starting to break off the hand Volpe had it in, at the wrist.

That was the cue for the detective in the next room.

"Just a minute!" he said, stepping out.

And the big rough-neck looked back at him over his shoulder.

"What are you—" said McConnell, "getting threatening?"

"Who are you?" said the man who claimed he owned the necklace, setting his small blue eyes on him.

And the officer shook his head.

He stepped back, after a minute—his breath coming hard, and his face getting redder—the way those full-blooded men do.

"Now, what's your game?" said the officer. "You slip in here with seventy-five thousand dollars' worth of jewelry loose in your side pocket. And you want to have it replaced by other fake stuff. All in a night! So you can take these substitutes right back. And when this man asks you for an explanation you beat him over the head and start taking it away from him—run off with. What's the idea?"

The big man looked up at him with his little eyes and a cornered bull's, and said nothing in answer.

"Now listen," said McConnell, the detective. "You can do one of two things. It's up to you. You can show us—take us around to your wife now, at home. Or you can come with me, and have her give her explanation—to headquarters."

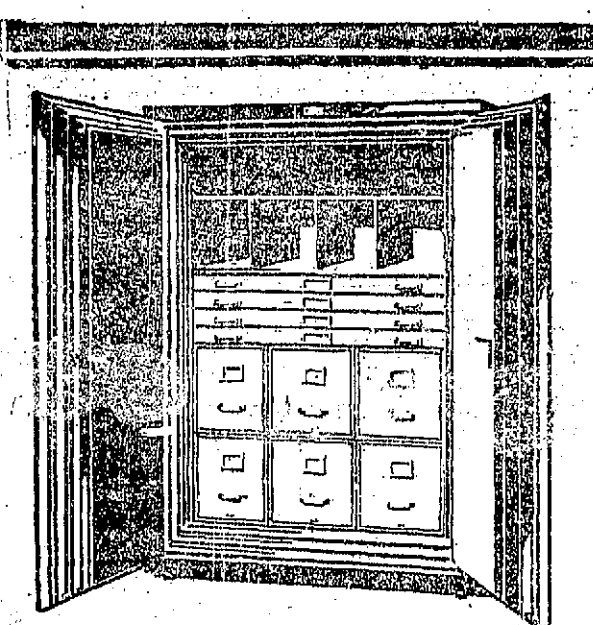

And the big fellow gave a groan, too loud, almost, to be natural.

"I won't, I can't," he said. "I'll right off to her. She don't know anything about this. She thinks we're on the top of the world yet—instead of just sleeping bankrupters!"

"There's others," said the detective, watching him, "that have had to hear it before!"

At the Theatres

THE PARAMOUNT.

"KINDLED COURAGE" the feature picture today at this theatre, presents Hoot Gibson. Gibson gained his first fame as a western hero, but he is rapidly withdrawing from this stellar denomination and evidencing his versatility in a convincing fashion in a new type of western drama in his latest story, "Kindled Courage," this popular western star is at his best. Last week Brown wrote this story directly for Gibson's use and it is consequently admirably suited to the star. The boyish, smiling personality that has been firmly established on the silver-sheet in western pictures is now to be seen in a new, interesting series of less dramatic locale. Opposite Gibson is pretty Beatrice Burnall features of a couple of years ago. In "Hart," a western star and "Hillside" in his own right, plays the heavy role, while Harold Goodwin, Harry Tenbrook, Russell Lowell, James Gordon Russell and others handle the remaining important roles. Friday and Saturday "West of the Rio Grande" will be shown.

THE SOISSON.

"THE HOTTENTOT," the comedy-drama special of the year, with Douglas MacLean and Madge Bellamy in the leading roles, opened today at this theatre for a three-day performance. Thomas H. Ince maintains his reputation as the thriller-maker par excellence by including novel spectacles in every production. In "The Hottentot," his latest comedy drama special, he has produced scenes of a sleepchase said to be the most spectacular thing of its kind ever done for the silver-sheet. The producer and his directors let their imagination run riot in preparing for the filming of these scenes which were shot from every conceivable angle by aeroplane, from pits beneath the jumps, from a machine car and from the solid ground. In addition to the exciting racing sequences, new comedy stunts are absurdly funny as they are exciting, have been included. The best of all is a stunt done by Mr. MacLean, who plays the role of Sam Harrington, originally created by Willie Collier for the successful stage play from which Ince adapted his picture. MacLean, while riding on the running board of an auto is surrounded in the air when the car hits a rut, lands on the back of a ridgeline horse and before he knows what has happened has managed to rescue a girl from her runaway horse and be proclaimed the dazed hero of the hour.

THE ORPHEUM.

"MISSING MILLIONS," showing today at this theatre, is a Paramount picture with Alice Brady, supported by David Powell, in the stellar role. Mary Dawson, the heroine, is a crook and the daughter of a reformed burglar. Every time she makes a haul, however, her kind heart gets the better of her. She gives back the loot, be it diamonds or million cubes. Jim Cantwell, double-crossing diamondeer, becomes mixed up in Mary's affairs. She steals his wife's diamonds with the aid of her sweetheart, Doctor Blackie. The same night her father, returning from the farm, is arrested by mistake for an attack on Cantwell. Mary promises to return the diamonds if her father is released. Dawson to prison. In revenge Mary plans to steal the million cubes which Cantwell is sending Cantwell to save him from financial ruin. The trusting burglar tells in love with Mary, which prompts her to get impression of the strong room keys. This permits a clean-up. But the person gets the third degree. Mary gives away twenty-four thousand, all that remains in the safe, saving bank, to her adventurous pal. She returns the gold—but what follows the picture reveals.

Friday and Saturday Mary Miles Minter and Tom Moore will appear in "The Cowboy and the Lady."

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain
How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The hydrochloric acid lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food mounds, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well. Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do more harm than good. Try the gentle all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the most delicate of infants, and for stomach purposes, it is used by thousands of people who enjoy their food with no more fear of indigestion.—Advertisement—

How He Cured His Rupture

Old Sea Captain Cured His Own Rupture After Doctors Said "Operate or Die."

The Remedy and Book Sent Free. Captain Collins called the sons for many years; then he sustained a bad double rupture that soon forced him to not only remain motionless, but kept him bedridden for years. He tried doctor after doctor and tried after tried. No result. Finally, he was assured that he must either submit to a dangerous and painful operation or die. He did neither! He cured himself instead. Captain Collins made a study of himself, of his condition—and at last he was rewarded by the finding of the method that so quickly made him a well, strong, vigorous and happy man. Anyone can use the same method. It's simple, easy, safe and inexpensive. Every ruptured person in the world should have the Captain Collins' book, telling all about how he cured himself, and how anyone may follow the same treatment in their own home, without any trouble. The book and medicine are free. They will be sent prepaid to any ruptured sufferer who will fill out the below coupon, and send it right away—now—before you put down this paper.
